Langebæk Expands in Sweden: New Office in Central Stockholm

As part of its strategic efforts in Sweden, the Scandinavian consultancy firm Langebæk is opening its second Swedish office by Langebaek Consulting AB. The new location, situated in central Stockholm, will officially begin operations on May 2, 2024.

Expansion into a well-known market area

Langebæk, founded in Denmark, established its first Swedish office in Västerås back in 2018. Since autumn 2022, the Swedish branch has been operating from Örebro. With the addition of the new office at Vasagatan 7A in Stockholm, Langebæk aims to enhance its presence and better supply customers and projects across Sweden.

Key personnel and customer focus

The new office will be led by Langebaek Consulting AB's CEO, Peter Landenberg, and associated by Lead Consultant, Magnus Schultz. Peter Landenberg emphasizes the significance of this expansion: - "For many years, Langebæk Consulting has advised customers, including Lyko, Coop, Axfood, Elgiganten, Ahlsell, Martin & Severa among others. With the establishment of yet another Swedish branch, we can provide even better support to our customers and be closer to projects during implementation."

Driving innovation in Logistics and Scandinavian synergies

Langebæk recognizes the growing logistics market and the need for innovation in companies' value chains. As more businesses seek solutions related to new facilities, automation, and processes, Langebæk intends to maintain its focus on existing services while offering opportunities in newer business areas as a part of the logistics set-up.

Peter Landenberg explains: - "The expansion into Stockholm aligns with Langebæk's vision of strengthening synergies across national borders. By having a presence in multiple Scandinavian locations, we can contribute to our customer's competitiveness and develop exceptional logistics solutions."

The plan also includes further staff expansion in the short term. - "In very near future, we'll present yet another recruitment. By the end of the year, I expect that we have expanded with even more hands", Peter Landenberg ends.
