Langebæk Announces CEO Transition and Establishes New Dual-CEO Leadership Team

Langebæk A/S is undertaking a planned leadership transition as the company's CEO, Peter Gyldendal, has decided to step down from his position as Chief Executive Officer.

As part of the transition, Langebæk is establishing a new CEO team consisting of Anders Bartholin as CEO, Operations, and Lars Bek Jensen as CEO, Commercial.

The transition comes at a time when Langebæk is performing strongly and is well positioned for the next phase of its development.

A Strong Foundation for the Next Chapter

Peter Gyldendal has served as CEO since 2005 and has, in recent years, focused on strengthening the organisation and laying the foundations for Langebæk's future growth. With the company in a strong position, he believes that the time is right for a well-planned leadership transition.

Peter Midtgaard, Chairman of the Board at Langebæk, says:

- "Peter has played a vital role in the development of Langebæk. The Board is deeply grateful for his significant contribution and is equally confident that the leadership model now being established with Anders Bartholin and Lars Bek Jensen provides both continuity and a strong platform for the future."

Peter Gyldendal will support a smooth and orderly handover and will continue to serve as a member of the Board of Directors.

Continuity in Strategy and Values

The leadership transition does not entail any change in Langebæk's strategic direction. The company will continue to invest in its people and uphold the high standards that define its services. Langebæk will also maintain its market focus, build on its strong reputation, and continue to create long-term value for clients.

The new structure is designed to strengthen both operational and commercial leadership while providing a solid foundation for Langebæk's next stage of development.

Anders Bartholin and Lars Bek Jensen jointly state:

- "We assume this responsibility with great respect for the foundation that has been built over the years. At the same time, we look forward to continuing Langebæk's development together with our colleagues, clients and partners, building on the strong position the company has established in the market."
